

CLIMAF'S INSTITUTIONAL DECLARATION FOR PEACE

In light of the gravity of the events that are disrupting the international order, the International Liaison Centre of Women's Freemasonry (CLIMAF) solemnly raises its voice against the escalation of intolerance and the resurgence of violence in armed conflicts that afflict our world today.

True to its values of liberty, equality and universal fraternity, CLIMAF cannot remain indifferent to the dogmatism that destroys peace, nor to the use of force that seeks to supplant ethics and reason.

Now more than ever, we affirm that keeping one's word and mutual respect form the foundations of the harmonious development of societies. Diversity of thought and culture must be a vehicle for understanding, not a cause of division.

Consequently, we issue an urgent appeal to world leaders and international organisations to return without delay to the path of diplomatic negotiation.

Diplomacy is the highest expression of human intelligence and the only legitimate means of achieving a just and lasting peace to put an end to unnecessary suffering.

International law and the will to engage in dialogue take precedence over any territorial or ideological ambition in order to safeguard human life and dignity

CLIMAF reaffirms its commitment to working, alongside its member organisations and within civil society, to build a culture of peace where the light of discernment guides the decisions of those responsible for putting an end to destruction.

Indeed, there can be no progress in the shadow of arms, but only through justice, concord and harmony among peoples.
